Manager's Comments

Market Review

MGS yields climbed in November on the back of higher inflation expectations after the recent subsidy rationalization (and more expected in the future), fears of QE tapering resurfacing from the release of the FOMC meeting minutes and some positive economic data releases. The yield curve bear steepened. The 3, 5, 10 and 20 year benchmark MGS yields rose 6 bps, 22 bps, 44 bps and 48 bps respectively to 3.15%, 3.60%, 4.06% and 4.45% respectively. In its Monetary Policy meeting during the month, Bank Negara kept the overnight policy rate unchanged at 3.00%, citing uncertainties to the balance of risks between growth and inflation. Bank Negara mentioned that domestic demand could be moderated by public sector consolidation and that inflation remains low. The trading volume in private debt securities was relatively lower and more buying interest was seen in papers with shorter duration. Issuers that came into the primary market in November were Cagamas Berhad, Syarikat Prasarana Negara Berhad and Sabah Development Bank.

On equity front, the FBMKLCI Index rose 0.32% m-o-m to close at 1,813. During the month, Ringgit depreciated 2.2% despite Moody reaffirming Malaysia's government bond and issuer ratings at A3 while raising outlook from stable to positive. Malaysia recorded GDP growth of 5% y-o-y in 3Q13, slightly higher than the consensus of 4.8%. This was mainly driven by domestic demand and modest export recovery. On the corporate front, IJM Corp reduced its proposed stake in Indian highway concessionaire, Vijayawada Tollway from 99.97% to 89.8%. Petronas has begun its gas production at the Berantai field and oil production at the Balai cluster. At the same time, Petronas awarded 13 contracts for 5-year offshore hook-up, commissioning and topside major maintenance contract worth RM10bn to six contractors. Dialog and Concord Energy signed a MoU to conduct a feasibility study for proposed crude oil and petroleum product storage terminal in Pengerang.

Market Outlook

In the near term for fixed income, we believe that market sentiment will likely be affected by the continued speculation about the US QE tapering timeline. While in the longer term; we believe the yield curve will steepen with rising inflation expectation as more subsidy rationalization measures are expected to be announced.

For equity, we remain optimistic on equities in the long run, backed by Malaysian government effort to address fiscal deficit as well as accelerating global economic growth. We remain focused on growth related sectors in oil & gas, property and construction.
