Market Review

The yield curve of Malaysian Government Securities (MGS) shifted with flattening bias in October 2022 as yields rose on the short-end of the curve while the long-end of the curve was relatively well anchored, reflective of investors' cautious stance on the back of the United States ("US") Federal Reserves ("Fed") policy actions. On the currency front, MYR weakened by 1.9% against the US dollar to end the month at MYR4.7267.

The FBMKLCI rallied by 4.7% Month-on-Month ("MoM") to close at 1,460.38 pts on 31 October 2022. The Index outperformed the MSCI Asia Ex Japan Index, which declined by 4.28% MoM in Malaysia Ringgit terms over the same period. Foreign investors were net sellers of Malaysian equities in October 2022 amounting to RM0.6bn, while local institutions stayed net buyers amounting to RM0.9bn. During the month, sector wise, Healthcare (+15.2%), Transport (+11.9%) and Plantations (+6.3%) were the key performers while Technology (-3.8%) and Construction (-1.2%) were the key detractors. Major news during the month include Prime Minister Dato' Sri Ismail Sabri announcing the dissolution of the Malaysian Parliament to pave the way for General Elections to be held on 19 November 2022 as set by the Election Commission of Malaysia).

Market Outlook

Ongoing geopolitical tension between Russia and Ukraine remains unabated with the European Union (EU) now committing to restrict energy imports from Russia while sourcing for alternative supplies elsewhere with clear implications on the global energy markets and supply chain. Given China's commitment to its zero covid strategy and the growing domestic property crisis, it is unlikely to see China achieving its GDP growth target in 2022. At the corporate earnings level, we expect some earnings revision in the near term to account for slowing top line and margin pressure. In the near term, we are of the view that equities remain volatile as investors continue to assess the US inflationary outlook and the risk of Fed overtightening.
