Market Review

Malaysian Government Securities (“MGS”) strengthened towards the end of the year on the back of risk-on sentiment in emerging markets (“EM”) following the positive development in the US-China trade war, dovish tone by US Federal Reserve (“Fed”) as well as year-end rebalancing activities. Market generally traded in thin liquidity during the month amid the year-end holiday period and in the absence of domestic catalyst. MYR strengthened by 1.2% against the greenback to close the month at MYR4.1335.

The FBM100 Index posted a monthly loss of 0.4% in December, bringing YTD loss to 9.3%. Sector-wise, Plantations and Telecommunications were the key gainers, while Technology disappointed on the back of weaker sales guidance from Apple. Foreigners remained net sellers in the market with a new outflow of MYR1.0 billion in December, bringing 2018 net foreign selling to MYR11.8 billion. 2018's outflow had more than offset the MYR10.6 billion of net foreign inflow in 2017. On the corporate front, key news included the disposal of Sime Darby Property and SP Setia's stakes in the Phase 2 commercial assets at the Battersea Power Station in London for GBP1.58 billion and AirAsia Group's disposal of 25 aircraft to US-based global private investment firm Castlelake LP for USD768 million.

Meanwhile, Asian equities ended lower in the month of December, where markets were rattled by a myriad of concerns including the US Federal Reserve (Fed) raising interest rates too quickly, US economic growth being revised down for the third quarter and President Trump's warning that he was prepared for a 'long' government shutdown if he did not receive the funding for a border wall with Mexico. These fears were compounded by further evidence of a slowdown in China's economic activity. The oil price also continued to decline amidst concerns of oversupply and weakening demand.

Market Outlook

In the near term, trade disputes between major economies remain a concern while higher local government bond supply may exert some pressure on yields. That being said, we believe the local bond market should be well supported on the back of solid domestic fundamentals and ample onshore liquidity.

We expect the Malaysian equity market to remain volatile in the near term given ongoing concerns over the trade war between US and China and its implications on global growth. Locally, investors are watching out for more clarity on Pakatan Harapan's policy execution and fiscal management. In the longer term however, the new ruling coalition's promise of better governance, transparency and accountability should bode well for the domestic business environment and local equity market.
